Thomas Robertson, with his wife, three sons, James, John, and Thomas, and two daughters Jane (later Skene) and Margaret (later Philip), arrived in Melbourne early in 1840 from Glenmuick, Aberdeenshire, Scotland. The family settled at Mt. Mitchell in 1846, and worked as a partnership Robertson & Sons until 1872. Thomas senior died later the same year, and the three sons divided the property acquired by the family. Thomas received his share in money, James took Mt. Mitchell, Pleasant Banks, Heath Springs East, Lockhart, and Moray West properties, while John became the proprietor of Yarram Yarram including the Wannon run, and Victoria Valley including the Moora Moora and Gazette runs.

It is chiefly with James and his descendants that the bulk of the papers is concerned. He married Margaret Gordon, and there were four sons and three daughters of the marriage - Thomas, James Gordon, John Gordon, Francis Robert Gordon, Annie (who remained unmarried), Christina Gordon (later Morrison), and Margaret Gordon (later Buchanan).

James Gordon Robertson married Anne Bath Farrer; there was one son, James Rowland, who later held the Skene property.

Thomas and his wife Grace had at least one son, John Seymour. John Gordon Robertson died unmarried, and Margaret Gordon Buchanan died without issue.

Francis had three sons and one daughter - James Ochiltree, Francis Ochiltree, Gordon Ochiltree and Jean Ochiltree (later Beatson). Francis lived on Mortat, at Goroke.

Christina Gordon Morrison's children were James Robert, John Gordon and Margaret Gordon.
