Biography: Alexander Leeper was born in 1848 and was educated at Trinity College, Dublin where he graduated M.A. and L.L.D. and was awarded the Vice-Chancellor's Prize, First Classical Scholarship Berkely Gold Medal and St. John's College, Oxford, First-Class Classical Moderations, exhibitioner and scholar. In 1876, Leeper was appointed Warden at Trinity College, University of Melbourne. He was a member of Melbourne University Council, a Lay Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, President of the Melbourne Public Library, the National Gallery and the Classical Association and Vice-President of the Shakespeare Association. In 1879 he married Adeline Marian Allen (1853-1893) with whom he had four children: Adeline Theodora Allen (Kitty) Leeper (1881-1971); Katharine Janet (Katha) Leeper (1883-1913); Alexander Wigram Allen (Allen) Leeper (1887-1935); and Reginald Wildig Allen (Rex) Leeper (1888-1968). After the death of Adeline Marian, he was married again in 1897 to Mary Elizabeth Moule (1859-1952) with whom he had three children: Valentine Alexa Leeper (1900-2001); Beatrice Mary (Molly) Leeper (1901-1992); and Geoffrey Winthrop Leeper (1903-1986). Alexander Leeper retired as Warden in 1918 and died in 1934. Geoffrey Winthrop Leeper was educated at Melbourne Grammar School and the University of Melbourne, and graduated B.Sc. and M.Sc. He lectured in Agricultural Chemistry from 1933, was appointed Associate Professor in 1946 and became Professor in 1962. He retired in 1969 and died in 1986. Valentine Alexa Leeper was born on Valentine's day 1900 in Melbourne. Valentine was educated at Melbourne Church of England Girls Grammar School (MCEGGS) and at Trinity College, and was an Australian classicist, teacher, polemicist, and letter-writer of renown. Like her father, Valentine was a controversialist, and although eccentric and conservative in style, she was liberal in many of her views and publicly condemned racism. While often promoting an assimilationist model, she was an activist and advocate for Indigenous rights, refugees, freedom of speech, and women's rights. Valentine was an active member of several networks and groups seeking social justice for Aboriginal Australian people, in particular the Victorian Aboriginal Group for which she was secretary and a long-time member, and the National Association for the Advancement of the Native Race. She was a commentator and activist on international affairs, being a long-time member of the League of Nations Union; an education activist for the protection of classical studies; and in the Church as an advocate of women's ordination amongst other things. For many years, she worked as secretary and carer to her father, then as carer for her mother, after which she obtained work as a school teacher. Valentine frequently wrote assertive letters to newspapers, government ministers, Anglican Church leaders, and media outlets. In 1944 she published a pamphlet, Piecrust Promises, attacking what she saw as the British betrayal of Poland to the Soviet Union during World War II. Valentine died in 2001 at the age of 101. Sources: Poynter, M 2008, Nobody's Valentine: letters in the life of Valentine Alexa Leeper, 1900-2001, Melbourne University Publishing, Carlton, Vic. Leeper, V. Scope and Content of Series

This collection consists of intermingled papers from three publicly active members of the Leeper Family in Melbourne - Alexander Leeper, Valentine Leeper and Geoffrey Leeper. It also contains correspondence with other siblings and relatives in Melbourne and the UK as well as of Adeline and Mary Leeper, Alexander's wives. With the exception of Geoffrey Leeper's papers [see 2018.0113], the remaining documents are difficult to separate, and have been retained in their received order and the contents of each box listed.

Alexander Leeper's papers consist of: Correspondence 1890-1930; household accounts; items; newspaper cuttings; obituary 1934.

Geoffrey Leeper's papers consist of: Correspondence; postcards; photographs; lecture notes; private papers; committee material; University of Melbourne papers; publications; newspaper cuttings; photographs; personal items; copies of "The Collegian", "University Gazette" and "Trinity College".

Valentine Leeper's papers consist of: Correspondence; postcards; taxation material; photographs; donation receipts; lecture notes; diary 1978-1980; MCEGGS notebooks; scrapbooks; Anthropological Society of Victoria material; Victorian Aboriginal Group - National Association for the Advancement of the Native Race papers; personal correspondence.

In 2018 papers of the Victorian Aboriginal Group and related bodies stored by Valentine Leeper were identified and redescribed in detail to make them available and transparent to Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities and researchers. Many of the records were collected and maintained by Valentine Leeper sometimes during her roles and activities in the following groups, and sometimes because she had access to them and preserved them:

- Victorian Aboriginal Group (V.A.G.)
- National Association for the Advancement of the Native Race (N.A.A.N.R.)
- Anthropological Society of Victoria
- Melbourne Church of England Girls Grammar School (MCEGGS)
- League of Nations Union

Items in these papers relate to some of Valentine Leeper's work in: Indigenous affairs, Christian Missions, anthropology (both Australian and International), and Classical Studies. They principally consist of personal and professional correspondence, annual reports, newsletters, cuttings, photographs and miscellaneous papers.

The majority of these items are about Aboriginal Australians rather than by them except for a small group of school documents by Aboriginal children sent to the Victorian Aboriginal Group by friends working in Western Australian missions, especially the Mount Margaret Mission, and exhibited by the V.A.G. at fundraising events.

The descriptions of Indigenous content in these items mention the places where the Aboriginal Australians discussed lived, their language groups and the subject of the discussion. These descriptions seek to identify all place names and people/language groups which may be relevant to Indigenous people searching for cultural connection. As such, some descriptions are at a very granular level e.g. all names and missions mentioned in the Victorian Aboriginal Group annual reports, as well as all persons involved in those missions. This allows for maximum search results.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people should be aware that some items in this collection might cause distress: it may contain images, voices or names of deceased persons in photographs, film, audio recordings or printed material.

Some items may contain terms that reflect authors' views, or those of the period in which the item was written or recorded but may not be considered appropriate today. These views are not necessarily the views of University of Melbourne. While the information may not reflect current understanding, it is provided in an historical context. Finally, some few items contain disturbing descriptions that may include violence, abuse, genocide, and discussion around the stolen generations. These items are noted in the listing.
