HISTORICAL NOTE	Sir Roy Douglas Wright AK, DSc (A.N.U. & Melb.) Hon. LLD (A.N.U. & Melb.) MB MS FRACP Roy Douglas Wright was born 7 August 1907 in Central Castra, Tasmania; the ninth of ten children to Emma (neé Lewis) and John Wright. Wright was educated at Devonport High School from where he graduated with outstanding results and won numerous scholarships including the Education Department Scholarship, Science Scholarship, Sir Richard Dry Exhibition, a General Scholarship and the Gilchrist Watt Scholarship. In 1924 Wright completed first year of science at the University of Tasmania before entering the University of Melbourne in 1925 on a full scholarship to Queens College where he commenced a Bachelor of Medicine. So began a life-long association with the University of Melbourne which saw Roy Douglas Wright progress from an outstanding undergraduate student to becoming professor, Dean of three faculties and eventually, Chancellor. Graduating in 1929 with a Bachelor of Medicine, Wright then worked as surgeon and pathologist at the Royal Melbourne Hospital where his interest in experimental science and research developed. In 1932 his Master of Surgery was conferred and Wright was appointed Steward Lecturer in Pathology (1932-1934). Subsequently he became Senior Lecturer in Pathology (1934–1938) and in 1937 was awarded the awarded the prestigious Syme Prize for Research. After two years (1936–1938) research work in Oxford under the direction of Sir Howard Walter Florey, Wright returned to Melbourne and was appointed Professor of Physiology (1939–1971). He served as Dean, Faculty of Medicine (1946–1947 & 1951–1952), Dean, Faculty of Veterinary Science (1945–1962) and Dean, Faculty of Science (1969). Wright was elected by Convocation to the University Council (1971–1990) assuming the office of Deputy Chancellor (1972–1980). In 1980, Wright was awarded a Degree of Doctor of Laws (honoris causa) and became Chancellor (1980–1989). In 1983, for his service to education, learning and medicine, Wright was made a Knight in the General Division of the Order of Australia (AK). Wright’s legacy is the establishment of some of Australian’s outstanding institutions for scientific and medical research including the Cancer Institute Board (Peter MacCallum Clinic), the Howard Florey Laboratories of Experimental Physiology and The Australian National University (ANU). He had enormous commitment and drive to lobby for research institutions and facilities which could attract, retain and foster Australia’s elite research scientists. In 1931 Wright married Julia Bell with whom he had two children, Douglas and Julia. He died 28 February 1990, survived by his second wife Muriel (neé Wilmot, married 1964), and two children of his first marriage.
DATE OF TRANSFER	1968 – 2004

ACCESS CONDITIONS	This collection contains both open & restricted items These restrictions pertain to records of a personal and or sensitive nature; or alternatively have been imposed to fall in line with the restrictions imposed by the jurisdiction in which the records were created. For example the Milan Byrch Inquiry (1/1 – 1/54) are restricted because the records contain both personal information and have been restricted by the Archives of New Zealand.
DESCRIPTION	Correspondence, reports, research papers, manuscripts, speeches, meeting minutes, photographs, negatives, audio (interview), appointment diaries, newspaper cuttings, certificates and ephemera.
NOTE ON COLLECTIONS	In addition to the Wright collection the University of Melbourne Archives holds the 'Orr Case Papers', which comprise 33 boxes created by Prof R. D. Wright during his involvement with and representation of Sydney Sparkes Orr, which came about through Wright's role on the executive of both the Melbourne University Staff Association and the Federal Council of University Staff Associations of Australia (subsequently Federated Australian University Staff Association). In 1952 Orr was appointed professor of philosophy at the University of Tasmania. Two committees enquired into allegations of Orr's improper conduct towards a student - and found against him. He refused to resign and was dismissed on 16 March 1956. Wright was asked by Orr to review the evidence in May 1957, after which Wright later became Orr's 'next friend.' Wright advocated for and represented Orr until the latter's death in 1966. Roy Douglas Wright's brother, (Senator) Sir Reginald Charles Wright, was Senior Counsel for the Council of the University of Tasmania during the Royal Commission of 1955, the Supreme Court case, 1956, and the High Court Appeal, 1957. A separate hard copy listing of the 'Orr Case Papers' is available upon request. NOTE: BOXES 1 – 3 & 24 ARE RESTRICTED

NOTE ON LISTING	Series have been artificially imposed by the archivist. The collection has been listed to the file level only. This collection was previously partially arranged, reference to all old control numbers have been retained in the item description; for example Items (4/3) ‘Correspondence regarding the establishment and governance of the A.N.U.’ [Item previously referred to as 4/1/3] All effort has been made to track the original accession numbers of items, however due to previous work on this collection it has not been always possible to determine the exact accession as several may be applicable – in this instance all possible Accessions have been listed; for example Series 5 Cancer Institute Board – Peter MacCallum Cancer Clinic ‘Files in this series are from the Accession (68/3) possibly (79/33).’ All items are files unless otherwise stated as being a volume, certificate or other format.

Prof R.D. Wright, then Medical Director of the Cancer Institute was the Chairman of the Inquiry. The Commission of Inquiry (22 April – 15 May 1974) investigated the treatments used by Milan Brych in the Radiotherapy Department of the Auckland General Hospital. (Vlastimal) Milan Brych was born 11 December 1939, in Czechoslovakia. With the invasion by Russian forces in 1968 he fled to Italy after which he was accepted by New Zealand as one of the 100 Czech refugees admitted at that time. Upon his arrival in New Zealand he first worked in the Medical Laboratory of the Auckland Hospital, claiming to be a qualified medical practitioner from the University of Brno. He did not produce any documentary evidence but backed up his claim with a faked doctoral thesis. In 1969 he requested registration (which was granted in 1971), and obtained a position in the Radiotherapy Department at the Auckland General Hospital. In 1972 he initiated a "chemo-immunology" treatment for cancer claiming miraculous success without ever disclosing his methods. In 1973 some of the Medical Faculty became suspicious and a committee to assess the value of "chemo-immunology" was established. 'A Preliminary Report on Radiotherapy Services Auckland Hospital' by Prof E. M. Nanson (1/48) was followed by a review of Brych's treatment by Drs Gifford and Carter, who in committee resolved to terminate Brych's treatment except for patients who had already begun the regime. They also requested full disclosure of the method. Subsequent to the Inquiry, The New Zealand Medical Council investigated Milan Brych's claim	1972 – 1988

		to be a qualified medical practitioner. It was discovered that Milan Brych never attended University and during the period stated to have been studying at the Medical School of Czechoslovakia, he had been in prison. Milan Brych was removed from the New Zealand Medical Register. Brych lost an appeal and left New Zealand in 1977 to establish a cancer clinic in Rarotonga (Cook Islands) and later went to work in the United States of America. 		Series Note: Michael Lindsay was appointed to Senior Research Fellowship in International Relations, Australian National University (A.N.U.), Canberra, under Prof Walter Russell Crocker with the status of Reader. When Professor Crocker resigned in 1954 Michael Lindsay became Acting Head of Department. In 1957 Prof Martin Wright nominated for the Chair, Department of International Relations, Michael Lindsay was critical of the appointment, leading to eventual withdrawal of Prof Wright. In 1959 Michael Lindsay was appointed Reader in International Relations (A.N.U.), but resigned late 1959 to take up an appointment at The American University, Washington, D.C., U.S.A. In 1961 he completed 'A Study in Academic Standards' (3/3) highly critical of both academic bureaucracy and of A.N.U.'s International Relations Department. Correspondence is inwards and outwards, unless otherwise stated. 	5	Cancer Institute Board – Peter MacCallum Cancer Clinic	1946 – 1991
		Series Note: Since 1943 Prof R. D. Wright and Peter MacCallum were actively advocating for the establishment of a specialist cancer hospital but meet great opposition from the hospital establishment. Wright maintained a public campaign in the newspapers, which ultimately brought enough pressure to bear on the then Victorian Minister for Health, Albert Dunstan to announce the allocation of £500,000 to establish The Cancer Institute Board. The Cancer Institute Board was established by an Act of Parliament of the State of Victoria (1948). The first meeting sat in April 1949, with Prof R. D. Wright as the chairman. In 1950 an outpatient clinic was established and named in honour of Professor Peter MacCallum. In Sep. 1977 the Peter MacCallum Cancer Institute opened the Douglas Wright Wing recognising his life-long commitment to research and cancer therapies. With lobbying from Prof R. D. Wright the name was changed, in 1986, from the Cancer Institute Board to the Peter MacCallum Cancer Institute. Files in this series are from the Accession (79/33) (68/3)
