HISTORICAL NOTE	Cathleen Moore (aka Luanscot Danaan) was born in Queensland in 1954 and grew up in various rural areas. For the most part, however, she lived on a sugar cane farm. Moore left home at 18 years of age and spent the next three years working and traveling around Australia and New Zealand. After settling in Melbourne in 1975, she commenced a long period of political activism, initially in the Women's Liberation Movement and the Left. She later became active as an environmentalist and a supporter of Australian Indigenous people's struggle. Author of Journey to the Matrix (Dykebooks, 1987), Moore completed the combined degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor Laws with a view to obtaining her practicing certificate for admission to legal practice. This collection is No.4 of the Victorian Women's Liberation and Lesbian Feminist Archives.
