HISTORICAL NOTE	Joseph Terence Anthony Burke was born on 13 July 1913 in London England. His academic achievements were impressive: he completed a Bachelor of Arts, Honours in English Language & Literature in 1933, followed by a Master of Arts in (English & Art History) 1935; a critical edition of William Hogarth's Analysis of Beauty at Courtauld Institute of Art, University of London and a Master of Arts (Humanities, Arts & Letters); a biographical & critical study of Benjamin West at Yale University. Later on he was also awarded a Master of Arts by University (ad eundem), 1948 and an Honorary Doctorate in Literature from Monash University 1977. During his post graduate studies at Yale, Burke held a lecturing position in Extra-Mural Studies. In England during the late 1930s-1940s Burke worked as Assistant Keeper, Department of Circulation at the Victoria & Albert Museum. War broke out in Europe in 1939 and Burke contributed to the war effort in his role as Private Secretary to successive Lord Presidents of Council including Rt. Hon. Sir John Anderson, Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee and Rt. Hon Lord Woolton 1942-1945, and to the Prime Minister Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee 1945-1946. In 1940 Burke married Agnes Middleton, and had one son, Rickard, on 8 March 1942. In 1946 Burke was appointed to the newly created position of Herald Chair, Fine Arts at the University of Melbourne, he held this position from 1947 until he retired at the end of 1978. His academic career was distinguished by his tireless promotion and sponsorship of the Arts in Australia and overseas, this is reflected in his active participation in coordinating exhibitions of Australian Artists in London, through to his membership of a multiplicity of societies and clubs and his numerous lectures, speeches and broadcasts on the Fine Arts. Burke published several books and articles during his long academic career, which included publications on his area of special interest in 18th Century English Art and amongst his better known titles are 'Hogarth and Reynolds: a contrast in English art theory, 1943, 'The Analysis of Beauty, with the rejected passages from the manuscript and autobiographical notes; edited with an introduction by Joseph Burke', 1955, 'Hogarth: the complete engravings' 1968 & 'English Art 1714 – 1800' 1976. Burke had been awarded an Order of the British Empire 1946, Commander of the British Empire 1973 and a Knighthood in 1980.

NOTE ON COLLECTIONS	The Burke Papers were compiled from several accessions (noted above). The records on Burke's activities had unfortunately been fragmented due to a mixing of Fine Arts Department records and Burke's own personal records. Advice from a former University of Melbourne Archivist was that the Burke papers are an amalgam of records retrieved from the Fine Arts Department office and Burke's home, from where they were moved several times before finally reaching the University Archives. It is evident that the moves may have contributed to a further mixing of the records. Another contributing factor to the mixing of the records was Professor Burke's position as foundation professor of the Fine Arts Department and a distinction having not been made between the personal activities of Professor Burke and his role as head of the Fine Arts Department. In addition, there is evidence of top numbering of the original boxes. It was decided early on, based on analysis of sample records from the collection, that the existing accessions should be split between Joseph Burke's personal papers and University Fine Art business because of different access requirements. Nevertheless, researchers should consult both collections. This is an important collection because it provides direct documentary evidence of the emergence of the Australian Art scene in the mid twentieth century and Professor Burke's contribution. This theme is further developed and documented in Sheridan Palmer Bull's 2004 Ph. D thesis 'Intersecting Cultures: European Influences in the Fine Arts: Melbourne 1940-1960'.
NOTE ON LISTING	All of the boxes were originally listed in order by a student and this project concentrated on using this list to separate the Joseph Burke papers from the Fine Arts Department records. The records remain in the order they were listed within the boxes and have been chronologically arranged. Clearly this is not the original order in which the records were created, despite Professor Burke's repeated efforts to impose a classification system (see series 17). These were re-arranged so often as to be rendered meaningless. However, where evidence has been found of Professor Burke's classification system this has been documented at the item level. New series have been constructed on the basis of Professor Burke's activities, personal affairs and achievements. NB. Photographs and postcards have been removed from files to separate storage. Where a photograph has been removed from a file, both the file number and the photograph number are given.

1		1	Correspondence	1926-1990
			This correspondence series covers 64 years of Professor Burke's life and gives some insight into the close personal relationships he established with his many professional and personal friends and associates. Burke was a prolific letter writer who had a flare for interweaving personal anecdotes and views with routine issues. Noted in this series are his documentary evidence of his relationships with the Lindsay family and various well known Australian Artists of the mid twentieth century. What become apparent in the Joseph Burke correspondence series after his appointment to the Herald Chair of Fine Art was his increased reliance on his secretary to take care of his administrative needs in both personal and his professional academic life. This is evident with his correspondence with a myriad of colleagues, associates, family, close friends and general routine personal correspondence. In the final fifteen years of his life there is evidence of deterioration with writing style in his notes and untyped letters. The arrangement and order of the correspondence series is at this stage in original box order.

		3	Research on Benjamin West	1807-1979
			Joseph Burke did his Master of Arts thesis on early American artist Benjamin West at Yale University in 1937. He planned to develop his thesis into a publication, and at various points during his career returned to his research but it never found its way into print. Evidence of this intention is found in his unsuccessful application to the Rockefeller Foundation for

		18	Exercise Books	1947-1991
			Professor Burke used exercise books for many purposes: to take notes on texts he read, to record his experiences and thoughts, to plan and draft his lectures and articles, to keep track of people, create bibliographies, or organize his shopping. These books were rarely dated, although some can be placed at the end of his life by the deterioration in his handwriting. Some were used for different purposed over several years and the labelling on the front of these books is often crossed out and written over, making it difficult to assign a title. Alphanumeric lettering on some of exercise books show that Professor Burke arranged and classified them at some stage, but it is difficult to relate them to the classification scheme indexes which he left and often revised. His classifications are
