HISTORICAL NOTE	The first Trades Hall was erected in 1859. A small nucleus of tradesmen, most of who were involved in the Eight-Hours Day campaign achieved three years earlier, formed the first committee of the National Trades Hall and Literary Institute on 3 December 1858. (Records from this period are at the State Library of NSW.) The original building was replaced with a grander one between 1873 and 1925 in order to reflect its status as a 'parliament' of the working class. From small but proud and often parochial beginnings, the Trades Hall Council developed into a major industrial and political force, with campaigns on hours, wages, long service leave, superannuation, equal pay, youth, aboriginal affairs.

DESCRIPTION	Approximately 60 trade union journal titles, published by unions whose archive collections are held by the University of Melbourne Archives. The journals were collected as part to the working Victorian Trades Hall Library. They will be catalogued as part of the Archives Library and available individually via the University of Melbourne Library catalogue in 2007. They are listed here by union name, then journal title.
NOTE ON COLLECTIONS	Journals from unions whose records are held by the Noel Butlin Archives Centre in Canberra have been transferred there.
