Archives Digitised Collections

Creator(s)
Greer, Germaine (1939-)

Title
Lotze R. H Mikrokosmus

Date
1968-1970

Description
item: 2014.0039.0448

Terms and Conditions
Copyright owned by University of Melbourne. For information about ordering a copy of this image contact the University of Melbourne Archives: archives@archives.unimelb.edu.au

Preferred Citation
University of Melbourne Archives, Greer, Germaine (1939-), Lotze R. H Mikrokosmus, 2014.0039.0448
42

There can hardly be anything which a woman's intellect could not grasp, but a great deal in which women could never take an interest. Though it is continually said that man's understanding seeks the general and women's, in particular, seek the numerous cases, the weakness of the power of reasoning will be seen the less. Moreover, the affections in the business of the understanding would not accord with the ego, the effort assigned to the male will and with the subserviation to the general assigned to woman's self-limitation.

46... to the female mind truth has quite a different meaning than to the male mind. To women everything is true which is justified by the rational significance with which it is connected; a capacity of feeling unannounced to the rest of the adapt itself to the whole of the rest of the world and its conditions. It is less dependent on its place, it is at the same time real. They are the therefore inclined not to be sure, to lying, but to tell things and does not matter to them. Whichever anything which has become valued by them contribute to the desired present also follows up on this respect would refer a thing which is just what it appears to be... Predominance of natural judgment over scientific analysis.
LOTZE R.H., Mepholosmos

- men
- generalize
- analyze
- natural law > value
- women
- completeness
- enjoy synthesis
- reality > value

- Characteristic of masculine thought is the deep conviction that all which is greatest and most beautiful in the world has its mechanical conditions, and that no result which is premature and which evades this