Archives Digitised Collections

Creator(s)
Greer, Germaine (1939-)

Title
Soul. Anderson Sherwood

Date
1968-1970

Description
item: 2014.0039.0496

Terms and Conditions
Copyright owned by University of Melbourne. For information about ordering a copy of this image contact the University of Melbourne Archives: archives@archives.unimelb.edu.au

Preferred Citation
University of Melbourne Archives, Greer, Germaine (1939-), Soul. Anderson Sherwood, 2014.0039.0496 modern man is losing his ability to retain his manhood in the face of the modern way of utilizing the machine and that what hope there is for him lies in women.

47

But what about the women? Why are they more triumphant than the men in such an age? Perhaps they aren't. It may be they only seem to be less troubled.

There are more goods made. Women salaries are good. Men earn more money. The women spend it. They do not. Women are more practical than men. If they can't get what they want, they will take what they can get.

If they cannot get men, they will take goods.

But what do they want?

Love, eh?

Where are they to get this love, this mate?
The woman, at her best is and will remain a being untouched by the machine. U may if she becomes a machine operator, tire her physically, but it cannot paralyse or make impotent her spirit. She remains, as she will remain, a being with a hidden inner life.