Dear Sir,

In answer to your letter of Jan 12th, I regret to say that we could not obtain any information regarding your great great grandfather Hendrik van Remmers.

Regarding the family Remmers we found the following:

— The family Remmers lived a long time in the West Indies.

One of them, Hendrik Remmers (could he be the "Admiral") married a Theodora van Hoewen.

Their daughter, Maria Elizabeth Remmers married Cornelis van Tuyll se van Waterburg.

Their son, Willem Remmers, married Maria van der Valk.

In the town
This arose from a chance meeting with a Dutch naval officer to whom I mentioned I had distant connection with some Dutch admiral of the long ago. He told me that one of the admiral's sons was interested in Batavia and would be able to give me information from full records. I wrote to him and received a reply. I did not pursue it further with the Hague address given.

On January 11th of the year 1739 she married in the town Zalt-Bommel (Holland) Jankheun Jacob Arment Bastingsius Bloys van Plesseong (1756-1825) who was a Rear Admiral in the Netherlands Navy and Secretary General of the Naval Department in The Hague.

I could not find her anywhere, but I think you will obtain more information at:

"Genealogisch Heraldisch Genootschap "De Nederlandsche Leeu""

Address: 5 Bylenburg
The Hague (Holland)

Yours faithfully, [Signature]
