Creator's Historical Note
The Derham family includes members who have distinguished themselves in business, law, medicine, literature, art and education. Thomas Plumley Derham (1817-1867) was born in Bristol, England. Derham moved to Australia in 1856 and set up a business in Sandhurst as an auctioneer. His son Frederick Thomas Derham (1844-1922) worked at Calander Caldwell & Co., before setting up himself up as a produce merchant and later became the Managing Director of Swallow & Ariell, a biscuit manufacturer. Another son, Thomas Plumley Derham (Jr.) (1848-1932), was a solicitor and father to Enid Derham (1882-1941), a poet and lecturer at University of Melbourne, and Alfred Plumley Derham (1891-1962), a soldier and medical practitioner and Francis Plumley Derham (1885-1957), soldier and lawyer. A.P. Derham served in the 5th Battalion during WWI, and fought at Lone Pine, Gallipoli. A.P. Derham also served as a medical officer during WWII and was a Prisoner of War at Changi. A.P. Derham married Frances Derham (nee Anderson), daughter of civil engineer and entrepreneur J.T. Noble Anderson and Ellen Mary Anderson. Frances trained at the National Gallery School and became an artist and designer. She later studied art education, and trained art teachers at Kindergarten Training College. Frances sister Alecia (Alice) Anderson (1897-1926) was a pioneering female mechanic and business woman who ran a motor garage and chauffeur service at Cotham Road, Kew from 1919-1926. A.P. Derham was the father to David Derham (1920-1985), prominent barrister and solicitor, legal academic and Vice-Chancellor of University of Melbourne. David Derham married Rosemary Derham (nee White) (1921-2002), daughter of notable General Sir Brudenell Bingham White and Ethel White (nee Davidson), who was from an early Victorian pioneer family. Rosemary Derham held volunteer roles in many public and University committees, including: Royal Children's Hospital Committee of Management (from 1964), Vice-President of Volunteer Services (1966-1979), President of the Women of the University fund (1976-1982) and President of the University of Melbourne Auxiliaries (1976-1982).

Scope and Content of Collection/Series

Records in the Derham family collection include a diverse range of materials of different provenance , and date from 1864-2001. The majority of the materials were created by Rosemary Derham and David Derham in the course of their professional and personal lives. Records created by Rosemary Derham relate to the following areas: university and music education, Greta Hort Scholarship, University College Friends, writing of a biography of her father Sir General Brudenell White The Silent Ruse , creative writing and recollections, household maintenance, and records relating to the death of her husband David Derham. Records relating to David Derham include: university education and qualification as a lawyer, typescripts of speeches and articles, poetry typescripts and manuscripts, work as an Air Liaison Officer in Papua New Guinea and work as Vice-Chancellor of University of Melbourne.

System of Arrangement

Due to multiple provenance and creators, this collection has been treated as a family collection. Obvious divisions such as bundles or those indicated by dividers were respected, and the order in which the materials were received has been maintained. In cases where the records were loose in the box, file groupings were created and titles assigned based on the content of the records. Original titles were used when present, and were elaborated if necessary to reflect the content of the file. Annotations on original folders were photocopied onto archival quality paper and placed in the file.
