RECORDS RECEIVED INTO CUSTODY

NAME:    HADKINTON, JOHN CAMPBELL

ADDRESS:  Deceased — formerly Argus Office, Collins Street, Melbourne, 79 Rose Street, Armadale (private).

MAIN ACTIVITY:  Journalist, editor.

DATE OF TRANSFER:

NAME OF TRANSFEROR:

GENERAL NOTE:  John Campbell Mackintosh was born at Hobson on 31st August 1870, a son of James Mackintosh, premier. From 1893 - 1896 he completed his articles in the office of H.J.W. Stillman, a Melbourne solicitor, after which he engaged in commercial pursuits. His career as a journalist began in 1906, when he obtained a position on the staff of the Melbourne Herald, Perth. He returned to Melbourne in March, 1909 joining the Argus as a leader-writer. In April 1917 he was appointed editor of the Australasian, and at intervals served as deputy-editor of the Argus. He was chosen as the Argus representative to accompany a delegation of Dominion journalists visiting Britain in 1918. This group reported on Western Front operations, the Clyde Fleet and Britain’s war work. J.C. Mackintosh died on 3rd November 1920.
