Correspondence between Benjamin Heywood Bright and his bookseller, Thomas Rodd, including details of purchases made and accounts. Includes a small number of letters from other booksellers, and notes from family members regarding borrowing and inheriting the books. (17 of 28)

Access: Copyright courtesy of the Bright family. Contact the University of Melbourne Archives for permission requests.

Preferred Citation
University of Melbourne Archives, Correspondence between Benjamin Heywood Bright and his bookseller, Thomas Rodd, including details of purchases made and accounts. Includes a small number of letters from other booksellers, and notes from family members regarding borrowing and inheriting the books. (17 of 28), 1980.0075.07794
I have letter from Mr. Bright, 19th April, 1847, and letter from Mr. Bright, 19th April, 1847.

Edward W. B.
I have now written the latter for this reason: for that the first are still under the impression of the 24th les fine days. They did not amount to about 250 les fine days. The air did not amount to the air of summer, the air of days. You first visited the last but one year. You did not. You must know whether you may be able to get hot water to keep in the water you may be able to get hot water to keep in the water you may be able to get.

To the Editor,

I remain for

Yours truly

[Signature]