Creator's Historical Note
Bernie Taft was born in Hanover, Germany in 1918. At just 13 years of age he joined the Young Communist Party. This was short lived, as Hitler's rise in Germany caused his family of Polish Jewish decent to seek refuge in Palestine. It was 1933. The family returned to Europe in 1935, before migrating to Australia in 1939. In 1941 he joined the Communist Party of Australia (CPA). This coincided with the Soviet Union entering into the Second World War. Four years later, in 1945 he accepted his first full time functionary position of the CPA as Director at the Marx School. He later studied for sixteen months at the Higher Party School in Peking (1955-1956), and at the Higher Party School in Moscow (1961-1962). In 1964 he was elected national committee member of the CPA, before national executive in 1967. He then became joint national secretary in 1979. Recognised as an Australian political figure who sought to take the Communist Party into mainstream politics Bernie Taft was committed to social justice. He resigned from the CPA in 1984 after forty years of service. In 1994 he published his memoir Crossing the party line. He died in 2013 aged 95. B. Scope and Content of Collection/Series

The material in this accession covers the period of Tafts career in the Communist Party of Australia (CPA) until his resignation in April 1984, and traces the next period of his life involved with various other social organisations such as the Socialist Forum, Evatt Foundation, and the Australia Jewish Democratic Society.

The CPA material reflects Taft involvement in various levels of the Party; containing official minutes, agendas, and correspondence of the National Committee, National Executive and Victorian State Committee, and material relating to his role as joint national secretary. Other CPA committee material, such as the Womens committee, is held within these files. A significant amount of Marx School material covering Tafts personal research and preparatory notes for lectures and discussion groups in his role as director, as well as official course material, compliments documents about Party Education programs.

Of note are official financial documents and documents about CPA property, in addition to Tafts hand-written notes and ephemeral papers. Speech transcripts and notes, writing for the media and several boxes of drafts and edited copies of his memoir Crossing the Party Line. Taft maintained a comprehensive series of news cuttings during the course of his life. Covering global political events in addition to Australian political, cultural and economic affairs, researchers should use the search term news cuttings to locate all instances of these files throughout the collection. Tafts involvement in the peace movement in Australia, especially the Victorian branch of the Vietnam Moratorium Campaign, is represented in this accession.

Previous control series and numbers have been assigned to a small segment of material. In the early 2000s a section of material was catalogued by [Waynes details] and given a series title, sometimes accompanied by a control number. Where two series systems exist simultaneously, a previous control series title and Tafts control series title have both been given, as they sometimes differ. This information is retained in Scope and Content notes for each item.

Where items have a year as title, the archivist has clarified the type of material in []. In these cases, the material was collected in the given year by Taft and is representative of his various commitments and interests in. The year of collection is usually the only affinity, apart from the collector, that the material shares.

Taft also used notes to himself as titles, as well as the term current. These titles are usually accompanied by a year, for example, Historical material 2003. This does not mean the records were created in 2003, but that Taft is re-viewing them and re-using them in 2003.

For ease of searching, acronyms have not been recorded using periods between letters, for example, ARU (Australian Railways Union), and CPSU (Communist Party of the Soviet Union).
