Creator's Activity/Occupation	Builders
Creator's Historical Note Clements LANGFORD was born on 25 March 1853 at Portsea, England and arrived in Tasmania in 1864, and Melbourne in 1868. He was apprenticed to the builder David Mitchell in 1869 and won first prize for architectural drawing at the Richmond School of Design in 1874. In 1877-1878 he worked as a carpenter and established a small business with Robert Hutchison in Richmond in 1881. The firm operated under Langford's name from 1886 and was incorporated as Clements Langford Pty Ltd in 1923. By 1930 the firm encompassed 'shop and office fitters, plumbers, painters [and] decorators', and boasted large joinery, timber-machining and plumbers' shops. Langford undertook an eclectic range of contracts including premises for Makower, McBeath &amp; Co. Pty Ltd, additions to the university medical school, the Bryant &amp; May factory, Centreway, Hoyts' Theatre in Bourke Street, the Melbourne Sports Depot, the Myer Emporium, Scott's Hotel, the Comedy Theatre, Ball &amp; Welch's store, the Safe Deposit Building, the Adelaide Steamship Co. building, the Dunlop factory at Montague, the Australian Mutual Provident Society's new Melbourne office and the Herald Building. The spires of St. Pauls Cathedral were built by the firm, with construction completed after the death of Clement Langford in 1930, by his son, George. Source: Mark Richmond, 'Langford, Clements (1853 - 1930)', Australian Dictionary of Biography, Supplementary Volume, Melbourne University Press, 2005, pp 227-228.

Scope and Content of Collection/Series

This collection can be considered as four main groups - administrative records, plans from 380 building jobs, photographs, and a small group of private papers. Administrative records are primarily from the period 1940-1960 however the plans and photographs cover a wider date range and include many building projects from the earlier years of the firm. Included are: Minutes, 1949-55; Agenda Book, 1935-1942; indentures 1914-1923; correspondence 1945-1956; diaries 1949-1955; Accounts 1881-1985; 1911, 1920-1959; job files 1946-1958; specifications 1928-1960; drawings and plans 1868-1960 (very few pre-1900); photographs 1895-1912.

The finding-aid details: the administrative and job files contained in 308 boxes; 124 volumes; and the "job numbers" assigned to Clements Langford Pty Ltd plans. Job numbers were given to each set of plans for sequential building projects. The first finding aid shows the reference number of each job and needs to be quoted when retrieving material for research. A second list describes plans in more detail and should be consulted as well: it describes the job number, name of the job [usually the name of the client], address of the job, the architect and the date of the job.
